Peter Heals in Jerusalem

One day, Peter saw a man who couldn't walk. The man asked Peter for money. "I don't have money," Peter said. "I have something much better."

"What could be better?" the man asked. "If I don't get money, I can't survive."

Peter took the man's hand. "In the name of Jesus, stand and walk." He pulled the man to his feet.

"Wh-what?" the man cried. "My legs...my feet...my ankles! They are strong again! I can work! I can live!" He began to walk, then he began to leap, shouting praises to God.

"Isn't that the guy who used to beg?" a man asked.

A woman answered, "Yes. He's healed! It's a miracle!"

Peter said, "This is the work of Jesus." He then began to teach the people all about Jesus. Everyone was amazed and many believed in Jesus.

 It was one of God's laws that people give money to those who were poor. Many people sat by the gates of the temple in Jerusalem and asked for money from the people who were at the temple to make offerings.
